

The Indiana Telephone Privacy Law has had a great effect. There was a time when every dinner was interrupted by several telephone solicitations. Now we receive almost no such calls, and if we do and tell the caller not to call again, they don't. Nothing should be done that weakens this law in any way.